Would you trade a Penny for a Dollar?

 You can if you use Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda for your top-dressing and side-dressing needs. It costs a little more because it's worth more. But the difference in cost usually can be measured in pennies per acre, while the difference in value often amounts to dollars per acre.

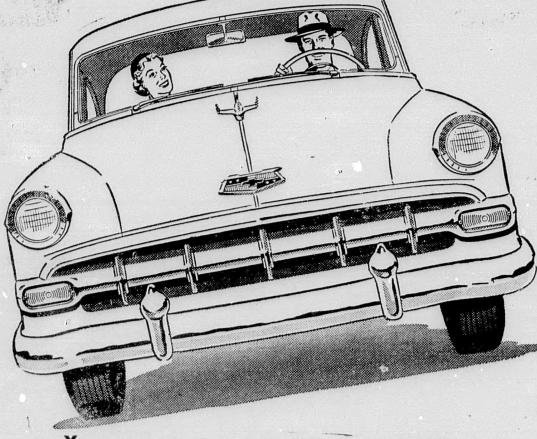

Chilean "Bulldog" Soda gives you generous extra value. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate. It's 100 per cent available (quick-acting); 100 per cent dependable. The minor elements make crops stronger, healthier. The sodium-26 pounds in every 100-pound sack-is a key to maximum returns on your entire fertilizer investment. It offsets the bad effects of acidforming fertilizers...increases the efficiency of mixed fertilizers containing them. It releases "locked-up" potash in the soil...increases the availability and efficiency of soil phosphate...reduces potash, calcium and magnesium losses by leaching...develops larger, deeper root systems.

Sodium builds up the productivity of your land-more each year. It's an essential element for some crops...beneficial to most and necessary

PAYROLL LOST TO ELBA??

Two weeks ago Tamco, a firm making fine style sport shirts for men, offered to bring their plant to Elba if the town or its citizens could raise enough money to build a plant with 35,000 square feet of floor space for them. At least $50,000 would have had to been raised to finance the building. Persons who invested their money would have had to wait a good many years to realize a return on their investment. It was a good deal for the town but not good enough to lure that hard cash of different individuals from relative safe investments now held to one such as this with an element of risk. Then there are those who want to sink every bit of capital they can get their hands on back in their own business. Like many another small business, Elba's growth was held back by lack of enough money, to finance expansion. The opportunity was there but the money wasn't. Situations such as this might come up again. In all likelihood, if it was necessary to raise any amount of money at all, the results would probably be the samethe prospective industry would go to another locale where a plant would be made available to them without any expenditure on their part.

Now if nothing is done this situation could exist forever and any sizeable increase in the town will be stymied. What can be done, with a minimum expenditure, is to advertise the two big advantages Elba has over most localities. This region has an adequate labor supply available at reasonable wages and seemingly unlimited underground water reservoirs. Somewhere in the United States there should be an industry that must have water, and lots of it, to process its goods. With the dual advantages of an adequate water supply and sufficient labor, they might be enticed into coming into this region without the citizens putting up a building for them.

If Elba ever wants to grow, the citizens have to go out and seek additional industry. Other cities are doing it successfully. Running ads in chemical trade journals, business magazines and publications for executives would let many important people know what is in West Coffee County. As it is now, they don't know the area exists. The expenditure would be small and possible gains great in an advertising campaign for Elba. It should be done.

By Norman Disher OOK Doc," Mary pleaded "look at it this way. We've had a lot of fun together. Some things didn't exactly go right but we had a lot of good times Doc. Think of those." Doc Turner looked across the front room at his wife. A small kindly person; the sort of a girl a man wanted to protect. Doc thought of the time they'd first met. It had been on the beach of a small resort town. The day had been sunny 2 - Minute and they had started talking and soon found that they got along well. After that they became sort of a habit with each other and they were seldom apart. He remembered all the good things they had done together and all the fine places they had visited. Sure, it was fun, in fact it was the best part of living for Doc: the very best. Yet, it had to come to an end: Doc was a gambler; not the Saturday night variety, but a gambler who made his living with cards, Just cards. It wasn't because he didn't love Mary enough. Their relationship had been one of those easy sort of contacts without strain or argument. They had just slipped into a way of companionship and
